"Dry" Element To Organize for Defeat of Smith

Call For Meeting at Nashville, North Carolina, on July 11—Josephus Daniels Criticises Governor—Senator Walsh Approves Convention Choice.

Washington, June 30. (AP)—As weary Democrats journeyed homeward from the national convention today they were confronted with an appeal to the irreconcilable "dry" element of the party to "organize at once" for the defeat of the party's presidential nominee, Governor Smith of New York.

The sponsors of the call, directed particularly to southerners, were Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who appeared before the resolutions committee of the convention to urge that a bone dry plank be inserted in the platform, and Arthur J. Barton, of Atlanta, chairman of the board of temperance of the Baptist convention.

Readily asserting that they acted on their own personal responsibility, they called for a meeting at Asheville, North Carolina, on July 11, to take steps to insure "the election of dry Democratic senatorial, congressional and state nominees for public offices and for the defeat of the wet, Tammany candidate for president, Governor Smith."

They expressed gratification that a specific enforcement plank had been adopted, but declared that the "only hope of preserving the ideals of and the unity of southern Democracy" was in the action which they proposed.

Daniels Raps Smith.

Meanwhile, Josephus Daniels, an ardent dry, who served as secretary of the navy under President Wilson, issued a statement criticizing Governor Smith for the message which he sent to the convention before its adjournment yesterday, in which he reiterated his stand for fundamental changes in the legislative provisions of the prohibition law.

Daniels declared the governor's statement "unnecessary and ill timed." He asserted that it fell like "an apple of discord" upon a convention in which "good feeling and unity prevailed."

"Time was needed for healing wounds," he said. "Instead before the disappointment of those who doubted the wisdom of his nomination could be lessened, the Smith letter irritated the situation." Daniels was a member of the platform committee and urged the acceptance of a dry plank.

Walsh Praises Governor.

Senator Walsh of Montana, a dry himself, and at one time an opponent of Governor Smith for the nomination, expressed approval of the convention's choice, terming Governor Smith "the most striking character that has appeared on the political stage since Roosevelt." Walsh's candidacy had the backing of William Gibbs McAdoo, Smith's implacable foe at the New York convention fours years ago. He withdrew after he had been defeated in the California preferential primary.

McAdoo, who withdrew from the political arena last fall, would make no comment on the nominatioh. He told newspapermen at his home in Santa Barbara, Cal., that he would have nothing to say until the nominee has delivered his speech of acceptance.

The party "acted wisely" in the opinion of James M. Cox, the presidential nominee of 1920.

"Since he was the outstanding candidate, met all the requirements of character and capacity for high position," he said, "we would not have deserved the right to even mention the name of Jefferson if we cowed before the same sort of bigotry that Jefferson so bitterly despised."

Mrs. Wilson Sends Congratulations.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson added her meed of good wishes and congratulations to the multitude of felicitations received by the New York Governor.

"I congragulate you on your nomination," she wired him, "and heartily wish for your success."

To this, Governor Smith replied that no other congratulatory message touched him more or made him feel more grateful.

"If I could leave behind me," he said, "an approach to the noble record of service made by Woodrow Wilson, your husband, then my efforts shall not have been useless."

Forceful Campaigners.

While campaign plans are still in an embryonic stage, there is every indication that a policy of carrying the battle straight to the fore will be adopted. This belief is heightened by consideration of the temperamental qualities of the party's nominee.

Gov. Smith is described as rejoicing to be in the thick of a fight, while Senator Robinson, powerful of voice and sturdy of body, is known as a vigorous and forceful campaigner.

A campaign program will be outlined within the next few weeks. The date for the notification has yet to be fixed, but it is known the Smith leaders wish him to be officially informed of his nomination before the end of July. Friends of the governor look for a vigorous campaign with no letup from Labor Day until the election in November. They expect him to take a vacation at some strategic point and then, with Robinson, to carry the fight to every section of the country, including the solid south.

Must Select Chairman.

Among the first decisions to face Governor Smith is that of the selection of a man to succeed Clem Shaver of West Virginia as chairman of the national committee. In this connection several names have been advanced, with that of Senator Gerry of Rhode Island, a close personal friend of the nominee, the most prominent. Others who have been spoken of are Senator Swanson of Virginia, Senator Pittman of Nevada, who headed the convention's platform committee, Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, Former Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, Arthur Mullen, national committeeman from the same state, J. Bruce Kremer, Montana committeeman, and Owen D. Young, of New York.

Finger Prints For Misdemeanors

Under New State Law Provisions Local Police Must Take Finger Prints of Those Arrested for Minor Crimes as Well as Felonies.

The first of July a new law goes into effect in New York state which requires the police department to take the finger and thumb prints of all those arrested for misdemeanors. Under the old law finger prints were taken only of those arrested on felony charges.

In addition to felony charges finger prints must be taken of those arrested for the following misdemeanors and other offenses: Carrying concealed weapons, petit larceny, making or possessing burglars' instruments, buying or receiving stolen goods, unlawful entry of building, aiding escape from prison, attempt to pick pockets, distributing habit-forming narcotics, and persons wanted for serious crimes or fugitives from justice.

Under another provision of the law the presiding judge must also make a complete record of the prisoner's age, religion, occupation, address, etc.

2 More Negroes Lynched by Mob

Mob Uses Acetelyne Torch to Cut Through Cell Bars—A Third Negro, Taken By Mistake, Released.

Brookhaven, Miss., June 30 (AP).—Quiet and a little bit apprehensive, Brookhaven carried on as usual today with no traces of the violent excitement that rocked the town last night when two negroes were lynched by a mob.

Early this morning the mutilated bodies of the victims were swaying from huge liveoak trees beyond the city limits. Even the most curious hesitated to visit the spot after midnight. Other negroes who might have cut them down were in their homes with doors locked.

The lynching resulted from a fight early in the day between the two negroes, brothers, and two white men, Claude and Cabby Byrne, automobile service station proprietors. Claude suffered a broken hip, his brother, Cabby, received a scalp wound from a pistol shot, and the chief of police, Walter Smith, was slightly hurt. The negroes fled but were captured and jailed after one had been shot three times by officers.

With dusk, small bands of men gathered on downtown corners and when night came they joined to form a huge mob which immediately moved on the jail. Sheriff Brister and his deputies were overpowered but they did not surrender their keys.

Heavy timbers were used to batter down the locked doors and the mob entered the cell rooms where the wounded negro and his brother were screaming for mercy.

Again held off by locks, the mob sent for an acetylene torch to cut through the cell bars.

The negroes, James and Stanley Bearden, were carried to the street where one was placed in an automobile and the other dragged through the town by a rope around his neck.

Still screaming, the prisoners were driven slowly to separate points on the outskirts of town and hanged. They were simply drawn off the ground by a rope thrown over a limb.

Then the bodies were mutilated and the mob dispersed.

A third negro, taken from jail by mistake, was released without injury. He returned to his cell.

Ran Away from Industrial Home

Alfred Green, 8, ran away for the third time within the year from the Industrial Home, and a general alarm was sent out today by the police department, who had men out searching for the lad during the morning hours. The boy, who had been admitted to the Home from Saugerties, ran away about a year ago and was caught on Flabush avenue. He made another attempt several weeks ago and again was caught. This morning he left the Home shortly after 7 o'clock. Alfred evidently does not care to remain at the Industrial Home. He wore a light shirt, dark trousers and brown shoes when he left and had no hat.

Auto Apparently Abandoned.

W. F. Tierney of the West Shore police force reported to the police Friday afternoon that an Ames coupe bearing the license number A-27-90-N. Y., had been parked on Ulster & Delaware railroad property on Thomas street for the past week, and apparently had been abandoned. The car was placed in the Columbia Garage.

Governor Smith Will Tell What He Plans to Do

And Not Run Down the Other Fellow in the Coming Campaign—Governor Plans For the Immediate Future—Platform Makers Familiar With His Views.

Albany, June 30 (AP).—"Constructive statesmanship" will be the watchword of Governor Smith's campaign for the presidency.

"I don't know when the campaign is going to begin or what territory it will cover," the governor said, "but I do know that I will talk to the American people just as I've talked to the people of my own state in past campaigns."

And the way he has talked to New Yorkers, his intimates add, is to tell them what he plans to do if he is elected; to give them in plain language a picture of how he hopes to help them, and not to "run down the other fellow" so that Smith may seem desirable by comparison.

"What he will do when he starts campaigning," one man close to the governor in past political battles said, "is just to lay before the people how he thinks he can act so as to make the U. S. A. a little better place to live in."

No "Canned' 'Speeches.

There will be no "canned speeches," this man said, and there will be nobody telling the governor what to say. He will figure out for himself exactly what he believes he can accomplish if he is elected and he will state his case in his own language for the approval of the voters.

It was learned today that the governor did not actually write any of the planks in the Democratic platform but that he did talk to the people who did write them and they were conversant with his principles as stated in public addresses as governor.

Tomorrow the governor will go to New York city and in the next few days will meet national committeemen for discussion of the campaign.

At Tammany Hall on Fourth.

He will attend the annual Fourth of July meeting at Tammany Hall and address a meeting of "new voters" from the steps of the city hall.

He returns to Albany next Thursday and plans to attend the annual Boy Scout outing at Bear Mountain.

He hopey to be able to take a short vacation before starting active campaigning.

Rainy weather postponed until tonight a public parade and demonstration for the governor but it could not keep him from being thoroughly kissed by three stenographers.

When telegrams of congratulation on his nomination flowed in so fast that the telegraph companies gave up putting each one in an envelope and sent them up to the Executive Mansion in batches of 100, three state stenographers from the capitol were called in to sort them out and take answers to them. As they entered the governor's home they met him in the hall and throwing their arms about his neck kissed him resoundingly.

"And plus that," the governor said in relating the incident, "they gave me a big bunch of roses."

Amazed at Telegrams.

The governor was amazed at the number of telegrams that poured in on him and considerably perturbed that because of their number he would be unable to acknowledge each one personally.

"In all my political career," he said, "I have always answered every telegram of congratulations with a signed letter."

"I have always felt this way about it. You can't send a telegram for less than a quarter and some of those from Houston and other places must have cost a couple of dollars. Well, if anybody is glad enough to see you win to spend money to tell you so they must mean it. I'd like to thank everyone of them. But it would take me months to do nothing but send letters to them. So please tell them in the papers that I appreciate their kind thoughts."

The governor said today that he was very lonely for his wife and children, who have been at the convention in Texas, and was looking forward eagerly to seeing them again when the special train on which they are traveling reaches Albany tomorrow.

NEW RESTAURANT TO OPEN AT 5 MAIN STREET.

M. Bijarakis, who discontinued the Popular Lunch on the Strand some months ago to start The Broadway Chop House, which he recently turned over to the present management, will open a restaurant at 5 Main street during the early part of July. Extensive work is being done to get the place in shape for a modern eating place. It is expected that the fixtures will all have been installed by July 4 so that business may progress shortly after. Mr. Bijarakis, popular as a restaurant man, has the well wishes of many for success in business.

Ambulance Calls Here.

The city ambulance on Friday removed Nathalie Lowe from 106 Abruyn street to the City of Kingston Hospital; Mrs. Kate Deyo from the Benedictine Hospital to her home, 11 Mill street, and Sophie Park from 89 Third avenue to the Benedictine Hospital.

Benedictine Nurses Graduated

Prizes Awarded to Graduating Class of Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing—Dean Scully Reads Address of Dr. Donovan, Who Became Ill After Reaching Kingston.

Commencement exercises of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing took place Friday evening at the Knights of Columbus building, Broadway and Andrew street. Relatives and friends of the graduates besides members of the Benedictine personnel taxed the capacity of the spacious auditorium.

The program outlined for the exercises underwent a number of changes. Dr. Mark O'Meara, who was to have presented the class, sailed for Europe and in his absence Dr. Fred H. Voss made the presentation address. Dr. Daniel J. Donovan, chief surgeon of the New York police department, was taken suddenly ill Friday upon reaching Kingston and his speech was read by the Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully.

The prize winners of the class were as follows: Mary E. Voss, Memorial Prize, by Dr. Voss in memory of his mother; Section 1, Miss Margaret Ummerle, and in Section 2, Miss Helena Hurn. The prize was for the most efficient work in theory and practice in medical nursing.

The Dr. Rudolph A. Orth prize for cleanliness and neatness was awarded to Miss Ummerle in Section 1, and Miss Kathryn Finn in Section 2.

The Dr. F. E. O'Connor prize for the most efficient nurse in operating room technique was awarded to Miss Mary Jefferson in Section 1 and Miss McNamara in Section 2.

The Class of 1928.

School Pins and Prizes Awarded.

The awarding of the school pins and the presentation of the prizes were made by the Rev. Thomas J. Sanderson, C. Ss. R. of Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus. In awarding the prizes Father Sanderson pointed that there were not enough prizes for each graduate, but it did not signify lack of ability on the part of those who were not recipients of awards.

In conferring the diplomas the Very Rev. Dean Scully paid great tribute to the graduates and to the Sisters of the Benedictine. Part of the great success of the recent Benedictine campaign for funds, Father Scully said, was due in large measure to the kind and efficient work of the members of the 1928 graduating class.

Dr. Donovan's Speech.

In Dr. Donovan's speech, which was read by Dean Scully, the eminent surgeon said it was a very high honor and a source of immense gratification to be invited to address the graduates on this glorious and momentous occasion. He congratulated the Sisters and the graduates, who, he said, were entering upon the threshold of a glorious career.

After reviewing the three-year course completed by the graduates and outlining the work that is before them, he closed his address by paying respects to this community and its citizens.

"This is a fine and progessive city," he said, "ideally situated on the west bank of the Hudson river, close by the foothills of the matchless famous Catskill mountains that gave field and farm to make possible Ashokan, now supplying seven millions of people in New York with nature's greatest refreshment; a city that has made history, having fine churches, homes, schools and public buildings.

"Let me congratulate the city of Kingston because it is getting bigger and better and it may be proud and it may rejoice with you in having a fine modern hospital that is thoroughly equipped, the doors of which are ever open to sick poor without regard to race, creed or color. After twenty-five years of service it has no apologies to make because its work is 'in the Vineyard of the Lord'. It has given splendid service and been loyal to the traditions that have gone before, that in its archives will be found, 'This hospital was founded for the glory of God and country'."

Following the Florence Nightingale pledge by the class, the Imperial Broadcasting Orchestra, under the leadership of John P. Erne, rendered The Recessional—The Cavalier—Gounod. Other selections rendered throughout the program were: Processional—Lincoln Highway March—Lutt; selection, Lauretta—Silver.

Congratulations, dancing and refreshments concluded the very delightful program.

SHORTAGES AND OVERWEIGHT IN COAL DELIVERIES HERE

State inspectors of weights and measures recently visited Kingston, inspecting the coal dealers. In three inspections there were two shortages, both of which were beyond the 30 pound tolerance, and one overweight. In a 2,000 pound delivery there was a 170 pound shortage and in a 2 ton delivery there was a 90 pound shortage. In a 2,000 pound delivery there was an overweight of 45 pounds.

June Rainfall Greater Than Any Month Since 1905

Four inches of rain fell in the Catskill mountains on Friday, which added to the previous rains of the month has given a total rainfall of twelve and one-half inches for June—one inch more than the rainfall during any single month since 1905.

The June rainfall of 1928 in the Catskills was five inches more than the rainfall of any June in twenty-two years, and is eight and one-half inches more than the average rainfall during the same period.

Kingston city and other sections of Ulster county have had practically the same amount of rainfall as the Catskill mountain region.

As a result of the heavy rainfall of the past few days and especially of Friday, water is now flowing over the Ashokan reservoir spillway at a height of one and one-half feet over the flush-boards erected some time ago, while the Schoharie reservoir is overflowing one foot and nine inches in depth over its spillway.

Working $20 Short Change Game

Same Old Flimflam Game Finds Ready Takers in Kingston—Police Hear Three Men Traveling in Car With Jersey License Are Working Racket.

There is nothing new under the sun and for that reason flimflam workers find it best to stick to the old reliable tricks of the trade. Down in Poughkeepsie recently a widow was flimflammed out of $4,000 on the package game, and today three young men are traveling about Kingston in an automobile bearing a New Jersey license, working the old, familiar $20 short change racket.

The game briefly is to purchase a small bill of goods, tendering a $20 bill in payment and receiving back the change. Then suddenly finding that they have the correct change, they ask for the return of the bill, returning back the change given by the storekeeper, but instead of the actual amount, the change is always "shy" several dollars, which is not discovered until after the flimflam worker has left the store.

This morning the three men stopped a peddler driving on Pine Grove avenue and wanted to purchase some fruit. Fortunately for the peddler he did not have change for the $20, and the purchase was not consummated.

It was reported to the police today that several storekeepers had "fallen" for the game.

Ice Conditions Add to Peril

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 30 (AP).—Ice conditions about the encampment of the survivors of the Italia were getting worse today and adding to their peril. Fog prevented airmen from approaching them but hopes were held that better conditions would soon prevail as the weather was improving.

The wind and currents drove the marooned men nine miles to the east and today they were nearly nine miles north of Grand Island and east of Cape Leigh Smith.

A small Swedish flying boat set out from Hinlopen Straight in an attempt to reach the castaways but was driven back by the fog. The ice breaker Braganza with two Norwegian flyers aboard was still blocked by the ice at North Cape.

In the meantime intensive search was continuing by dog teams for the three members of the Nobile party who started toward land. Captain Sora with Alpinists and Norwegian guides was exploring the region along various routes which they might have taken.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO MURDER O'DONNELL.

Chicago, June 30 (AP).—An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Edward (Spike) O'Donnell, who the police characterize as the dean of Chicago beer runners, was made last night, the attackers following closely the methods employed in slaying Big Tim Murphy Tuesday night.

O'Donnell was fired on from a curtained automobile as he stood in front of his home. He saved himself by dropping to the ground behind a motor car parked at the curb.

It was the fourth attempt in the past few years to assassinate O'Donnell, police records show.

Jailed for Being Drunk.

Frank Schultz of the town of Marlborough is serving a term of 30 days in the Ulster county jail, having been found guilty by Judge D. S. Hutchins on Thursday on a charge of having been drunk and disorderly, which is a misdemeanor under the penal law.

Boy Scouts' Street Fair.

Boy Scout Troop No. 6, will hold a street fair on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Wolven, 335 Albany avenue, Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening, July 6 and 7. Benefit for fund to buy flag sets. Refreshments will be served.

Dance Marathon Ordered to Stop

Supreme Court Justice Directs It To Be Stopped at Midnight After Police Had Been Restrained by Injunction Granted by Another Justice.

New York, June 30 (AP).—Supreme Court Justice Valente today issued an order calling for cessation at midnight of the "Dance Marathon" now in its twentieth day at Madison Square Garden.

Nine weary couples shuffled about the floor of Madison Square Garden today, the twentieth of a "Dance Marathon" which police were prevented from stopping by a court injunction. The injunction, issued by Supreme Court Justice Levy and returnable today, was served on police officers at 2 o'clock this morning when they sought to enforce orders of Dr. Louis I. Harris, city health commissioner, that the dance is stopped on the ground that it was "a menace to health and safety."

The eighteen dancers, who continued their ceaseless routine of dancing one hour and then resting fifteen minutes, were the survivors of ninety-one couples who entered the contest on June 10 for a prize of $5,000.

Dr. Harris ordered the contest stopped after he had investigated reports that Frank M. Quinn, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who quit the contest on June 21, was unconscious and in a serious condition at a hospital in that city as a result of his participation.

The health commissioner appeared at the garden early last evening and declared the dance would have to cease at once, but after a conference with Milton E. Crandall, the promoter, he agreed to permit the contest to continue until 2 o'clock this morning.

Crandall meanwhile sought to obtain a hall in New Jersey to transfer his contest there. Failing in this his attorney obtained an injunction from Justice Levy at his home.

The contest attracted but sparse patronage during its first couple weeks but lately has been attracting increased attention and several thousand persons have been in attendance the last few nights.

The dancers, each of whom has one or more trainers and attendants, have been moving continuously since the contest started except for the brief rest periods.

Very little actual dancing is done, however, as the contestants merely keep moving slowly about the floor while in a dancing position.

BRITISH COMMENT ON SMITH NOMINATION

London, June 30 (AP).—Only two morning papers commented today on the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith. This was perhaps due to the fact that Herbert O. Hoover was so well known here through his war work that his nomination attracted more editorial notice.

The times said the Democratic party had chosen "a man whose power of attracting and retaining followers is comparable to that of the piper of Hamelin." Nevertheless the paper thought that this task of winning the necessary number of votes in the electoral college would not be easy.

In comparing the two candidates, the paper said:

"Hoover's special strength, as revealed in seven years in high office, lies in improving the productive capacity of the country by conferences and agreed economies, by the elimination of waste and by the development of foreign markets. Smith with an experience as concentrated as Hoover's has been varied, has no superior as a guide to the possibilities inherent in wise and humane administration of public business. He combines a great record of progressive legislation with outstanding efficiency and an instinct for the due limits of government action."

The Daily Chronicle said:

"Whether Hoover or Smith is elected the United States will have a strong executive and ruler. Both men are forceful and have many sided abilities and unblemished records."

RAINFALL IN BUFFALO HEAVIEST SINCE 1885

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30 (AP).—Not only has rainfall in June exceeded that of any other June for the Buffalo zone but the month's precipitation has also been the heaviest for any month since 1885, according to records of the weather bureau.

Up to this morning, the total rainfall was 9.63 inches. The previous high mark was set in July 1885 when 10.53 inches fell.

Two Suspended Cases.

This morning in police court Judge Shufeldt suspended sentence on Harry Stelnit, arrested for train riding, and also Martin Lynch of 55 St. James street, arrested for driving a car with a learner's permit.

Trapps Highway Hearing Reveals Important Facts

County Presents Testimony to Judge Fowler Concerning Plans—Destruction of Scenic Beauty in That Region Would Seriously Damage Famous Shawangunk Mountain Resorts—Continue Hearing Monday.

A further hearing on the application of the board of supervisors to acquire lands by condemnation proceedings for the construction of the Gardiner-Kerhonkson county highway, known as project 151-A, was held Friday before County Judge Fowler. Robert G. Graves, county attorney, appeared for the petitioner and Judge A. T. Clearwater appeared for Daniel Smiley, one of the property owners through whose lands the proposed roadway will run and whose property will be taken in places to straighten alignment and eliminate grades and widen the roadway to 18 feet as proposed by the plans.

The board of supervisors have provided the necessary funds to go on with the work, plans have been approved, state and federal moneys are ready. The county and Mr. Smiley have so far been unable to agree as to damages to his lands. Objection is also made to the construction of the road in such a manner as will detract from the natural scenic beauty of the lands of Daniel Smiley of Lake Mohonk.

The roadway in question will be known as Part One of the Gardiner-Kerhonkson highway, running from Benton's Corner near Gardiner to what is known as the hamlet of The Trapps. The plan is to continue the road in the direction of Kerhonkson under another contract and that section will be known as Part Two of the Gardiner-Kerhonkson highway. The portion known as Part Two, under the present plans in process of being perfected, will terminate at the Kingston-Ellenville highway near the present bridge across Rondout creek at Kerhonkson. It will probably cross on a new structure.

Petitioner Presents Testimony.

The morning session was taken up in the presenting of testimony on the part of petitioner to show that the road was a public necessity and was over a route traveled by the public for a long period of years.

There was no testimony introduced on the part of Mr. Smiley and that right was reserved until Monday, July 2, at 10 o'clock to which time the hearing was adjourned at the request of Judge Clearwater, who appeared for Daniel Smiley of Mohonk.

In addition to the officials called, Fletcher Smiley, son of George Smiley owner of the Lake Minnewaska Hotel, was called.

He testified that he was heartily in favor of the new road and it would serve a large number of people other than the mountain house which his father operates.

Why Daniel Smiley Objects.

The chief difference and objection on the part of Daniel Smiley is that the road will cut through his Lake Mohonk grounds and spoil and detract from the present mountain grandeur which is one of the great assets of this resort. During the testimony it developed that several changes have been made in the original plans to avoid certain large Shawangunk grit boulders which lie on the Smiley estate. The destruction of a bridge, over the new road, which carried one to the Smiley private carriage roads, was also objected to and the probable damage to some mountain boulders of great scenic beauty. On Undercliff road a change has been made to avoid one great boulder to which Mr. Smiley called the attention of the officials. This change necessitated an additional expenditure of some $12,000, but will save the scenic value of the spot.

Promises Help Dispel Objection.

Following the testimony of highway and county officials that every effort was and would be made to preserve the scenic and beauty spots of the locality, much of the objection to the road on the part of Daniel Smiley was dispelled.

An adjournment was taken at the end of the case of petitioner until Monday at 10 o'clock.

During Friday's hearing Judge Clearwater, who appeared for Mr. Smiley, inquired of several witnesses in great detail as to how the road was to be built and whether it would destroy natural beauty spots which Mr. Smiley has so carefully guarded for years and which are one of the chief attractions to Mohonk.

County Engineer Describes Road.

County Superintendent of Highways, James F. Loughran was the first witness called at Friday's hearing. Mr. Loughran gave detailed outline of the work which would be done on the construction of the Gardiner-Minnewaska-Kerhonkson county highway, Part One, the road in question.

Mr. Loughran said the road was the last one on the Hewitt map of 1921. Plans had been approved and later alterations were made to the plans so as to avoid taking certain massive boulders on the Lake Mohonk estate near the Trapps which Mr. Smiley had requested be reserved. After there had been a meeting between Mr. Smiley and the committee on rights of way, revised plans had been made and he had reapproved of them, as had the High-

MONKEYS REBEL, SHIP CREW HAS LIVELY VOYAGE

Captain Experiences Real "Monkey and Parrot" Time in Rough Trip.

New York.—After having been the master for eight harassing days of an impromptu but thoroughly untractable Noah's ark, Capt. Curt Zastrow of the Panama mail line steamship Ecuador docked his ship safely recently in Brooklyn.

Captain Zastrow's troubles really began with the taking on at a Central American port of a cargo of 62 monkeys, 657 parrakeets, 252 parrots, 98 finches, 28 flamingos, 14 ducks, and 22 sloths, all consigned to Louis Ruhe, importer of tropical animals here.

And it was with a distinct sigh of relief that Captain Zastrow saw his cargo delivered to Mr. Ruhe, for in the last eight days of his voyage he had developed a positive aversion to all tropical animals—monkeys particularly.

What He Thinks of Monkeys.

Monkeys, Captain Zastrow thinks, undoubtedly have their place, but just at the moment he would hesitate to designate it publicly. He has, however, very distinct ideas on the subject.

It was shortly after he took on his miscellaneous cargo that the first monkey business started. Most of the Ecuador's 100 passengers were on deck, calmly lolling away the hours as the ship plowed northward through tropic seas, when a great chattering began at hatchway No. 1, and two score monkeys swarmed on deck, followed closely by as many parrots.

Monkeys and parrots apparently were all over the place, and an investigation showed that several of the cages containing 15 monkeys each had been opened in some way and that the monkeys released the parrots. Captain Zastrow thinks the whole scurvy trick was played by one monkey, perhaps, who wriggled from his cage and released his fellows. He doesn't know which monkey it was; he wishes he did know.

Swarmed Superstructure.

The parrots were caught quickly, but the monkeys were another matter. They swarmed up radio masts, over ventilators, boat decks, steamer chairs, nervous tourists and ship's officers. They were, in short, everywhere.

The agile kitchen help and waiters, Chinese and Filipinos, were pressed into service and the chase began, but it was not until eight days later and the ship was only a day out of New York that the last monkey was put back safely in his cage.

Captain Zastrow doesn't like to think of the intervening days, for both he and Chief Officer William R. Calcutt, are sure that the voyage was "one of their roughest trips" And they are not referring to the weather.

"Dead" Man Complains of Morgue-Like Home

Chicago.—Dead men ordinarily tell no tales. With Arthur McCaffray it is different. He was pronounced dead by his own father in his Chicago home. A crepe was hung on his door. An inquest was held. A jury returned a verdict that he had come to his death at the hands of an unknown person. His grave was dug, and his friends ordered flowers.

Then Mrs. McCaffray, the widow, appeared at the undertaking establishment in her weeds. She discovered the corpse was not Arthur. She returned home to find her husband there. He explained he had been taking care of a sick friend while away from home.

"This place," he told her, "is like a morgue. You and the five children are in mourning. How come?"

Gentle Warning

"Anything to see in this gosh-forsaken hamlet?" asked a New York salesman who was in San Diego for the week end. "Well, yes," responded the doorman of the San Diego hotel. "Every once in a while you can see a funeral goes by—and occasionally it's the funeral of some fuller that thought he was smart, and got what was coming to him."—Los Angeles Times.

Opportunity

Opportunities make us known to ourselves as well as to others. In affairs of importance we ought less to contrive opportunities than to use them when they offer. Our qualities, both good and bad, are uncertain and dubious, and at the mercy of opportunity.—La Rochefoucald.

Definition of Wisdom

The first point of wisdom is to discern that which is false; the second, to know that which is true—Lactantius.

Grade Students' Summer School

Beginning Monday a six weeks' session for eighth grade students will be conducted in School No. 7, on Crown street, in charge of Principal A. H. Russell of School No. 2. The purpose of the school is to assist those students who have not completed their preliminary work and give them an opportunity to enter high school in September. The term's work and the examination at its close will be based upon the regular Regents' outlines. Books will be furnished and students should be present at 9 o'clock Monday morning when the program will be arranged and class work started.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Summer Frock.

6131.—Printed silk, or zephyr or chiffon in the new printed patterns will be suitable for this style. It is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38 inch size as illustrated will require 4⅛ yards of 35 inch material together with ¼ yard of contrasting material for facing on belt, cuffs, and a one inch wide band on the scarf. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 1¾ yard.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1928 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

"Pop" Hinds at Summer School.

Frank N. "Pop" Hinds, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., left today for his former home in Springfield, Mass., where he will spend eight weeks. While there Mr. Hinds will attend the Y. M. C. A. College summer school course. He will likely return to Kingston during the latter part of August. While he has been physical instructor at the local "Y" that department has been a very active one. Leagues of various sorts in the several branches of athletics have been conducted by him, which proved of great interest to the members. He specialized in basketball last season and successfully put out a number of winning teams. The Chandler Club, which he coached, proved the stellar quintet of his making by copping the state honors in the northeastern district.

Trapps Highway Hearing

way Department. This revision in the original plans had been made in an endeavor to preserve certain rock formations which had been cherished by Daniel Smiley and the change had cost the county an additional $13,000.

The present road is a dirt road, narrow, steep and crooked. There are grades of from 20 to 25 per cent on the road as it now is. The new road would have a maximum of 7 per cent grade in places.

Part 1 of the road leads from Benton's Corner near Gardiner to a point at or near The Trapps, a distance of 4.22 miles. The route through to Kehonkson is 9.62 miles and will be built in two sections under the present plan.

Eliminate Curves and Grades.

On the plans there is a change in alignment of the road to eliminate curves and grades. The plans call for an 18 foot roadway of bituminous macadam.

One private road meets the highway as laid out. It is an overpass on a bridge and runs over private property of Mr. Smiley. It is a carriage road and the bridge, in the opinion of Mr. Loughran, was for horse traffic only. It would have to be demolished under the plan for improvement as the viaduct over which the private road passes over the highway is too narrow to permit the construction of the 18 foot road planned. A substitute bridge is planned to be built, probably of steel and concrete.

It is estimated that there would be about 93,555 cubic feet of excavation on the road of both rock and earth and two fills will require 56,297 cubic feet of material.

On cross examination by Judge Clearwater, Mr. Loughran said he had noticed a large and majestic Shawangunk grit boulder east of the ridge. Mr. Smiley had called the attention of the men to it when the committee went there. He wanted the boulder saved. Under the plans contemplated Mr. Loughran said the boulder would not be disturbed.

Seven Per Cent Grade on Part 2.

Part Two of the road runs from the Trapps to Kerhonkson and this portion of the road is now being contemplated. It will connect up the Wallkill and Rondout valleys with a good road. The witness said he considered it wise to build but one part at a time. Part Two is essential to the scheme. That section will also contain a maximum grade of 7 per cent and will connect with the Kingston-Ellenville road at a point south of the present bridge structure across Rondout creek at Kerhonkson. Mr. Loughran said it would probably cross on a new structure in the village of Kerhonkson.

Questioned by County Attorney Groves in regard to the grade on the road at present, he said it ran as high as 20 or 25 per cent. The grade on the highway running from High Falls to Mountain Rest is equal to the grade on the Gardiner-Kerhonkson road. From New Paltz to Mountain Rest the grade is not quite so steep.

County's Share $160,650 for Part 1.

Henry R. DeWitt, clerk of the board of supervisors, was called. He testified that in July, 1927, the board had by resolution authorized $160,650 as the county's share of the construction of Part 1, Gardiner-Kerhonkson road, and the county's share of the cost of a bridge structure was $3,045. These funds were now available. He told of changes which had been made to the original plans whereby the Undercliff road was changed in alignment to avoid certain rock formation. Several copies of letters showing approval of the board and department for the construction of the road and the revision of plans to save a boulder on the Smiley estate were offered in evidence.

Conditions at Minnewaska.

Fletcher Smiley, son of George Smiley, owner of Minnewaska, was the next witness called. He said he was one of the superintendents of the house and was familiar with the road. Their houses are reached over the Gardiner-Kerhonkson road through The Trapps. The road had been open to the public travel for some fifty years since Minnewaska had been in existence. The Minnewaska group of houses include Wildmere, with a capacity of 325 guests; Cliff House, with a capacity of 225, and Laurel Inn, with a capacity considerably less. At times 200 people are employed at Minnewaska. In addition there is a garage on the premises which will house 60 cars. The business was ever increasing, he said, and last year was the biggest in the 49 years the house has been in existence. One night there had been 108 cars stored on the premises and in the garage. The supplies for the mountain house are hauled over the proposed road.

Most of the people arriving by train come to Poughkeepsie and are met by autos from the house. During July and August the majority of traffic over the road comes to Minnewaska but at other seasons of the year the majority is local traffic over the mountain and by residents. Many guests come by automobile.

How Resorts Could be Damaged.

A road constructed in such a way as to destroy the scenic beauty of the mountain region traversed would damage the great mountain resorts, if it was of a serious nature, according to the witness, but the road would be a benefit to all people of the vicinity and would not injure the resorts if the scenic beauty were not destroyed.

The witness said he was in favor of the road and had spent a few hours working up sentiment in the locality and interviewing the supervisor and others.

Judge Clearwater stated that it had been originally planned to build the road over the mountain from New Paltz to Mountain Rest and by way of High Falls. He inquired if Fletcher Smiley knew of sinister acts of one individual and the subsequent change of the route to The Trapps. Mr. Smiley said he did not know of any such sinister acts.

Road Used Over 60 Years.

Calvin Sherman, 71 years old, of Kerhonkson was called. He said as long as he could remember, some 60 or 65 years, the road over the mountain through The Trapps had been used by the public. At The Trapps, he said, there were 12 or 15 or 20 houses.

That testimony concluded the case of petitioner.

Judge Clearwater then said he desired an adjournment for a few days. He suggested until Monday next at 10 o'clock and it was agreed to.

Seeks Protection, Not Money.

Judge Clearwater said he understood from the testimony of the officials that there was apparently an effort being made to eliminate so far as possible destruction of scenic beauty and if the road had to be built over the route laid out it should be done with as little damage as possible to this scenic grandeur which prevailed in that section. He said Daniel Smiley was not seeking money so much as he was seeking protection. His great enterprise depended on the surroundings. The road as first planned had been a crossing over the mountain at Mountain Rest but this had been suddenly changed for a reason which he did not at the present moment desire to make known or discuss but which he later might state. This change had not been made to benefit public necessity.

Asks Stipulation on Promises.

If the promises of the state and county officials were to be carried out, hostilities need not be pursued. There had been expressions of ruthless destruction and he suggested that the court issue an order on the testimony of the state and county which would prohibit this destruction and would guarantee the promises of the county and state officials that there would be as little destruction as possible in the work of constructing the road. The judge offered to sit down with Mr. Groves and draw up such an order for the protection of the Smiley estate and call off the objections.

Judge Fowler stated he did not believe it was in his power to do that and stated he believed the only question before him was whether the road was a public necessity.

Ruthless Destruction Not Intended.

Mr. Groves said there had been no intention of gross ruthlessness and the road alignment had been changed at a cost of $13,000 to the county to preserve on Undercliff road on the the estate a boulder. However, if it was found that there is a boulder on the route which must be taken, it would have to be taken and he believed the order of the court should be in the usual form.

An adjournment was taken until July 2 at 10 o'clock.

Judge Clearwater's Experience.

During the argument Judge Clearwater said he had had a vast experience with architects and engineers at Niagara where for fourteen years he had been the president of the State Reservation Commission with the authority to expend a million of dollars in the extension and improvement of the state reservation at the cataract. His experience with both architects and engineers was that they were people of single track minds who seemed obsessed with the wisdom of Peter the Great of Russia, who taking a map drew a straight line from Moscow to St. Petersburg and told his engineers to build a great highway on that line regardless of expense or of injury or loss to the people through whose property the road was projected. He did not wish to ask Judge Fowler to exercise judicial authority in a purely administrative matter because he, Judge Clearwater, was firmly of the conviction that the judiciary should confine its activities to the field provided for by the constitution and the laws regulating its conduct. He said he desired to close the matter at the earliest opportunity.

Open Air Card Party.

An open air card party will be held by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregation Ahavath Israel on the lawn adjoining the synagogue and hall at 72 Wurts street, next Tuesday at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Where Alligator Lies in Wait for Its Prey

The rivers and estuaries of northern Australia spread out over the country in great mudflats intersected by shallow creeks, while everywhere as a waterside growth one finds the eternal mangrove.

Along the banks of these creeks and across the mud-flats lie the blackfellows' pads or paths, worn and kept bare by the constant passing of feet; and in some reedy bed or muddy pool beside these paths the cunning "alligator" will lie waiting for its prey.

It will remain thus, quite motionless, for days, but let some unwary creature happen along—a woman, a dog, a kangaroo—and instantly it is on the alert. With exquisite judgment the foul brute will await the exact second for action; then a great armored tail lashes up out of the mud, with one tremendous sweep, knocking the hapless victim into the water.

Quicker than a terrier worrying a rat the terrible jaws follow up the blow, and before the luckless prey quite realizes what has happened the great teeth crush through flesh and bone and all is over.

Many white men have been caught that way, and no experienced bushman will walk alongside or camp close to a creek or waterhole, no matter how enticing the place may seem. At night the hungry brutes are apt to leave the water, and it would be a terrible awakening to feel the grip of those savage jaws as they closed on one's body and dragged one off to a hideous death.—Exchange.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 30, 1928.

Viscount Grey of England proposes this seasonable fisherman's prayer: "God grant that I may catch a fish so big that even I, in telling of it afterward, may have no need to tell a lie."

The honorary degree of LL. D. has been conferred on Lindbergh by the University of Wisconsin, "which he left two years ago by request because of his unsatisfactory scholastic standing". Nothing succeeds like success.

When Marcus Aurelius said, "remember that all things are only opinion and it is in your power to think as you please," he of course did not have in mind the five-to-four wire-tapping opinion of the United States Supreme Court.

The news comes that Mary Pickford has clipped her curls and turned her back on the little-girl roles that have pleased so many tens of thousands from Kalamazoo to Timbuctoo. Whether she will capture as large an audience in the fully grown-up parts now chosen obviously remains to be seen.

There is a movement, endorsed by the American Legion Auxiliary, to adopt "patriotic lighting" for Fourth of July celebrations. The big idea is to use lights on the Fourth very much as they are used at Christmas, making them substitute for cannon crackers. The colored strings of Christmas bulbs seem to lend themselves to such a scheme. Anything that will help to eliminate dangerous and noisy fireworks is commendable.

Electric railways are not dead yet. More electric railway track was laid in the United States last year than the year before. There were 888 miles of city and interurban track rebuilt and 192 miles of new track added. The industry operates 16,000 miles more of route than it did in 1920. But—this summary includes the bus routes provided by the electric lines to replace abandoned car lines or open up new territory. Query: Does the trolley car or the motor bus win?

It seems that church union in Canada has gone as far as bringing into the "United Church" all of the congregations of the Methodist Church, practically all of the Congregational Churches and 83 per cent of the congregations of the Presbyterian Churches. The report states that this will cut the "overhead expenses" in two as well as reduce the number of open churches one-half. The moral or religious gains are not estimated in the account before us, but as to these there may be some skepticism, particularly among the ministers now out of a job as a result of a consolidation or merger in modern "big business" style.

WISE DECENCY.

Much comment has been aroused by the award to an orthodox Jewish student at Wisconsin University of a prize for "Christian conduct". It is explained, reasonably enough, that to be a good Jew is to be fundamentally a good Christian—that is, not as regards theological faith, but as regards character and conduct. It might be said with equal accuracy that good Buddhist or Confucian morals resemble Christian morals.

The student himself makes a striking remark on this subject of morals. "If I have a good moral character," he says, "it is because my parents and my religion have taught me the wisdom of not having an immoral character."

In other words, it's wise—it's sensible and practical—to behave oneself decently. Crooks who think themselves "wiser than the sons of light" cannot understand this, because they lack intelligence.

VALUE OF GOOD-WILL.

Do "good-will flights" pay? Evidently they do, in hard cash as well as less material ways. In the first three months of last year, before Lindbergh's flight to France, our aircraft exports to that country amounted to $234,000. In the first three months of this year they amounted to $815,000, a growth of 250 per cent, and are still rapidly increasing.

The American aircraft industry today is enjoying a great boom, in which Lindbergh's exploits have been the biggest factor. While he was "selling America" to other lands, he was unintentionally selling them airplanes and accessories.

It always works that way. Every business man understands the value of good-will in his own business, as applied to individual customers and the public immediately accessible to him. It takes a surprisingly long time to make business and industry as a whole realize the business value of cultivating good-will in foreign lands by courteous and friendly dealing.

The estate of Enrico Caruso, the great tenor, of which an accounting is rendered seven years after his death, amounts to a little over a million dollars. That is not great as American fortunes are rated nowadays, but significant none the less. It shows that the time has come when art is profitable in this country. Any person of notable gifts, in music or any of the other fine arts, may accumulate a generous competence for his family even when he lives so generously as Caruso did.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY

James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

WHY MUSCLE MEANS SO MUCH.

Did you ever stop to estimate the amount of tissue that covers the bones in that body of yours.

Whether your bones are large or small they are so completely covered with tissue that only at a few points can you see or feel any bony prominences.

And this great bulk of tissue is muscle.

Of course a little layer of fat covers it to some slight depth, but muscle tissue "fills out" the whole bony framework.

Now this huge bulk of tissue was not meant to simply fill out your body or make a covering for it, but was meant to pull the bones about in different directions when you wish to walk, to run, or to do work of any kind.

It was meant to do so much work that Nature gave you a stomach that will hold three pints, a small intestine 20 feet long so as to give the blood a chance to absorb all the good out of the food as the food travels all this long distance along its surface; a liver that is so large that it holds one quarter of all your blood in it all the time, and all other organs in proportion. That is in proportion to the needs of a body which was covered with such a large mass of muscle. And it is by the use of this mass of muscle that all these organs are kept in working order.

When you work these muscles they manufacture an acid which must be gotten out of the system by means of the blood. The blood carries it to the lungs, and the lungs have to breathe more deeply and more rapidly to get rid of this acid and supply more oxygen to the blood, because this acid has used up extra oxygen.

This means that the heart must pump with more strength and more rapidity to get the blood to and from this muscular tissue.

Naturally all parts of the body share in the benefit of this increased circulation.

In addition, extra red corpuscles appear in the blood where they have come from spleen and bone marrow, so as to supply the blood with this extra food for use when needed.

The use of the muscles creates extra heat in the body, and as you know "heat is life."

The point then is that Nature by putting this huge bulk of muscle on you intended that you should use it, not just sitting around or doing work once in a while, but that every day some form of work or exercise should be taken.

That is why you are equipped so well with big lungs, a strong heart, a long intestine, and so forth.

Therefore if you want to get all parts doing their work properly, use your muscles and you'll keep everything going along in good condition.

MOST COAL DEALERS ARE GIVING FULL WEIGHT

Weights and Measures inspectors from the Department of Agriculture and Markets, at the direction of Commissioner Berne A. Pyrke have been engaged in a survey of coal deliveries in Auburn, Batavia, Corning, Elmira, Geneva, Hornell and Jamestown, and their reports showed comparatively few cases of shortages in weight and only four in excess of the tolerance permitted by law.

The commissioner directed Charles J. Reynolds, director of the Bureau of Weights and Measures, to make a check on the weight of coal deliveries in these cities, and for some time inspectors have been weighing loads of coal on tested scales.

In Batavia, in three deliveries which were inspected, there was one shortage of 111 pounds on a 4,580 pound delivery; but in another case there was an excess of 10 pounds on a 2,000 pound delivery and there was also one of 40 pounds on a 5,980 pound delivery.

In Elmira, in four inspections, there was only one shortage, which was 10 pounds on a 4,480 pound delivery, while on a 3,500 pound delivery there was an over-weight of 75 pounds. On a 3,185 pound delivery an overweight of 40 pounds.

In Corning two inspections were made, showing overweights in both cases—one of 5 pounds on a 2,670 pound delivery and one of 10 pounds on a 500 pound delivery.

In three inspections in Auburn there was one shortage of 255 pounds on a 4,000 pound delivery and over-weights of 30 pounds on a 4,000 pound delivery and 65 pounds on a 500 pound delivery.

In Geneva two inspections showed shortages—one of 95 pounds on a 2,000 pound delivery and one of 154 pounds on a 5,000 pound delivery.

In Hornell one inspection showed 80 pounds overweight on a 3,100 pound delivery.

The inspection of one delivery in Jamestown showed a shortage of 10 pounds on a 1,000 pound delivery.

In all of the inspections made in these cities there was a total shortage of 605 pounds and a total overweight of 376 pounds. Under the law a tolerance of 30 pounds per ton is allowed for wastage and variation in scales.

Cases in which there was a shortage in excess of this will be reported to the legal bureau of the department, and dealers listed as violators will receive communications directing payment of the prescribed penalty. In case of failure of response reference will be made to the attorney general.

It is provided by law that delivery tags must accompany each load of coal showing the quantity contained in the vehicle used, the name of the purchaser, and the name of the dealer. One of these tags must be delivered to the purchaser and the other retained by the dealer. There are specific requirements relative to the delivery of coal in bags or baskets. It is required that the weight be marked on these, and provisions are also made with regard to the size of the containers.

Mr. Reynods pointed out that the law provides that weights and measures officials of the state, city or county finding coal, coke or charcoal ready for delivery may direct the person in charge of the fuel to convey it without delay to the scales designated. The driver is required to return with the vehicle so that the correct weight of the coal may be determined.

FIREMEN'S COMMITTEE ADOPT RESOLUTION

The following resolution was adopted by the local committee on arrangements for the recent Firemen's Convention at its last meeting:

Be It Resolved, that we, the officers and members of the local committee of The H. V. V. F. A., in these the closing hours of our firemanic sessions, extend our sincere and hearifelt thanks to the following:

The mayor of our city and honorary chairman of this body, the members of the common council, our representatives in the city government; to the board of public works and all their assistants and employes of the city government, to the three Business Men's Associations of our city—Uptown, Downtown and Central, to the Chamber of Commerce and to officials, to Fire Chief Murphy, grand marshal of our parade, and his assistants; to the board of fire commissioners, to the chief of police and his staff, including Captain Fox and his State Troopers; to the clergy of our city, to Major O. R. Hiltebrant for armory, use of same to feed our delegates; to Kingston Council, K. of C., No. 275, for the use of their splendid building and equipment for the three days of our convention; to the Crowley Milk Company of Newburgh for their generous offer of buttermilk for the firemen on parade day, to all our professional and business men, and to all of our citizens in every walk of life, to each and everyone of them, local or different organizations of all kinds, to each and every one of them this local body is deeply indebted for the large part each and every one of them took in the putting across of the Thirty-ninth Annual Convention of the H. V. V. F. A., in our city, June 19, 20 and 21.

This we feel has been due to the valuable assistance given. It brought about the largest, the very best and the most ably handled of any convention held, not alone in our city of Kingston, but of any in the Empire State, and for all this we feel very grateful. It was a wonderful time for our citizens and also the visitors to our city, and we should not and I shall not forget it. The visitors can say they came, they saw, they were not disappointed and they went away expressing themselves that Kingston had a real firemen's convention and knew in every way how to handle it. In conclusion, to the press of our city and its representatives, which has been a great asset to this local body since its organization for keeping before our citizens at all times the doings of this local body and for our outside visitors what they could expect if they visited Kingston during convention time and which they did ably and well, and for which we offer them our very deep appreciation.

Jail Bird

It was one of those little parties at which an out-of-town girl was a guest of honor. In the course of the evening she was introduced to a young man from the prep school. After the introduction, she avoided him with the most deliberate intent. When her hostess asked for an explanation, the young visitor replied that he was from the prep school. The hostess looked perplexed.

"But isn't it a sort of a penitentiary?" the girl ventured.

English Tongue in France

English in eleven lessons so equipped twenty Paris policemen that they answered 350 questions in the new language. This encouraging result caused the prefect, Jean Chiappe, to order 250 more of the force to go to the school. Frenchmen who have adventured abroad suggest that a notebook and pencil will help out the officers, for they have found it simpler in England and America to write their questions rather than wrestle with the foreign accent.

Snow Storm Formation

Potentially snow storms form in general region of warmth, strange as it may seem. The area of low barometric pressure, or storm sea, comes whirling eastward across the Gulf states and then generally takes a twist northward along the Atlantic seaboard. When sufficiently far north these warm air currents are chilled and the moisture becomes snow, very often being borne to the earth by the back draft of east wind.

Eleanor Gunn Says

New York—Necklace and bracelet sets of shaded topaz are among the jewelry novelties stressed by those returning from abroad.

A tendency toward more simple shoes has already manifested itself, and authorities agree that even simpler models will be the vogue.

Ecru Alencon lace is a favorite type for lingerie, irrespective of its tone.

Tweeds and heavy-weight jerseys hold their own for sports wear, although there is a sponsorship of novelty basket and other weaves.

Reboux, in widening a brim, sometimes permits it to droop at one side, and is generally partial to uneven lines.

Metal animals as a hat decoration are no novelty, but metal and enamel butterflies may still be so regarded, and are appearing on wide-brimmed summer hats.

How many gardenias are you wearing? Three in a row? It is an arrangement over which many rejoice.

A great many women have been converted to the idea of wearing pajamas since such decorative ones have been put on the market.

Woven and braided twine belts are among the newest ideas from Paris.

Black tulle dresses are reported from all smart sources, including a recent brilliant opera audience in Paris.

Indians After American Record

Peckinpaugh's Braves Credited With 86 Doubles and Two Triples, The Latter, One Less Than The Record —"Goose" Goslin Leads Hitters.

Chicago, June 30 (AP).—Peck's "Head Boys" may establish a new American League record for double and triple play mischievousness this season if nothing else.

Pivoted about the flash and speed of J. Sewell and Carl Lind, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh's Cleveland Indians so far have turned in two triple and 86 double killings and the season is not half over. The triple play record of three has stood since 1911, when Detroit made the mark. It was duplicated by the Red Sox in 1924. In double plays, the league record, established by Washington in 1923, is 152.

Unofficial averages for games including last Wednesday's show the Indian infield has made 23 double plays in two weeks alone. Last week they made 12 and were but three behind the Cincinnati Reds, who seem headed for a National League record.

Pitchers generally had the Indian sign on the leading batsmen of the American League during the eleventh week, unofficial averages disclose. "Goose" Goslin, Washington outfielder, slumped the least and still retained his lead in the hitting race, as he dropped only one percentage point. Reeves of Washington suffered the most, his average declining 23 points and dropping him sixth to twelfth place.

The leaders: Goslin, Washington, .425; Gehrig, New York, .355; Kress, St. Louis, .347; Lazzeri, New York, .343; Dugan, New York, .343; Forthfill, Detroit, .339; Manush, St. Louis, .337; Koenig, New York, .333; Easterling, Detroit, .330; and E. Miller, Philadelphia, .328.

George Grant, rookie right hander who came to Cleveland from the Southern Association, went into the technical lead for pitching honors by turning in two more victories during the week. He has won six and lost none. Alvin Crowder of St. Louis was second with seven won and one lost, while George Pipgras was generally conceded the leader with 13 victories and two defeats.

New York dropped eight points in team batting, but held the lead with a .306 average. Cleveland was second with .291. In team fielding, Boston led with an average of .976, while St. Louis was second with two percentage points less.

Other leaders: Runs, New York, 389; fewest opponents, runs, New York, 258; assists, Cleveland, 931; individual runs, Ruth, 71, and stolen bases, Sweeney, Detroit, 10.

Sunday Schedule Of Local Nines

Provided weather conditions are favorable a number of interesting baseball games will be played in this city Sunday afternoon, while several Kingston teams will take to the road for contests with formidable nines.

At the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Colonial A. C., recent conquerors of the Clermonts, will take on the Robin Hoods of Hyde Park. This aggregation is classed as a flashy outfit, against which the Colonials will have to do their best battling in order to stay in the running. The Robin Hoods cleaned up in 25 out of 25 contests since their formation and so far this year won four consecutive victories. The team has been playing for several years. Joe DuBois and Al Flanagan will form the battery of the local club. The rest of the lineup will be the same as that which defeated the Clermonts.

One of the largest gatherings of baseball fans ever to visit Pan-Am Park on the Saugerties road is expected to assemble for the Sunday tilt of the oilmen with the Sagamores of Albany. The game will get under way at about 3 o'clock and according to the feeling of each nine will be a thriller from start to finish. Manager McNally has been getting his Pan-Ams into shape for the tilt and promises rooters that his aggregation will put up one of the best games of the season. He has not announced his battery.

The Rondout A. C. will maneuver against the Albany All-Stars at Block Park Sunday afternoon. The contests at this diamond generally start at about 2:30 and it is expected that by that time Sunday afternoon every bench and available place to sit will be occupied by followers of the Rondouts and many others who enjoy a good game of the national sport. Clyde Russell is slated to do the hurling for the All-Stars, while Manager Golnek has not decided whether to send Coughlin, Peters or Doyle to toss them over for the Rondouts.

The Clermonts and the Koenig All-Stars will clash at Hasbrouck Park Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Koenigs hold one victory over the Clermonts, who will try to even matters. Jack Dunn will be called upon to toss puzzling slants to the All-Stars, while his teammates will have to solve the slants of Warrian.

John McCardle, manager of the All-Stars, will take his club to Fleischmanns Sunday for a game with the representatives of that community. The local players expect a hard battle against the mountain community opponents. After the game the All-Stars will be the guests of Manager J. Kirke of Fleischmanns, former big leaguer, at a party.

The Bar-Nons are due for a tilt with the Glasco All-Stars at Glasco Sunday afternoon. The meeting will be the first of a series.

BANQUET TERMINATES DUCKPIN LEAGUE.

The Duckpin League, which furnished plenty of amusement for bowlers who wished to extend the bowling season beyond the regular period, was brought to a close at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night with a banquet. The awarding of prizes to the men who gained prominence in the league took place.

George Coley took first place and was awarded a cigar lighter. Bill Thiel was presented with a gold pencil for attaining second honors, while the third place man, Harry Riepan, left the banquet hall with a handsome cigarette case. "Pop" Hinds expressed his regret that Nat Markson, who signed as a league competitor, was unable to appear at the "Y" alleys for he felt sure Mr. Markson could have displayed some real form. Joe Kelly, who failed to bowl a game was awarded a pair of gold cuff links as the "booby" prize.

French "Immortals"

There are 40 members of the French Academy. Those are often spoken of as the "immortals." When a vacancy occurs the academy elects a new member. By tradition a person is selected from the ranks of the particular field in which the late member excelled.

Wrestler Hurt in Fall Through Rope

Boston, June 29 (AP).—Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth football star and victor in 46 consecutive heavyweight wrestling matches, was unconscious in a private hospital today with concussion of the brain as the aftermath of a sensational bout last night with Ed (Strangler) Lewis, in which the strangler came within a fraction of losing his title.

Sonnenberg had won the first fall. The men returned to the ring and the former collegian attempted to negotiate his famous flying tackle hold on the champion. Lewis sidestepped him and Sonnenberg literally flew through the ropes to land on his head beyond the row of newspapermen.

When in 15 minutes he was unable to continue Lewis was awarded the fall and the match and physicians ordered Sonnenberg rushed to a hospital.

Nearly 10,000 persons saw the spectacular climax to the match which it had seemed must end in the crowning of a new champion. Lewis, a towering figure beside the comparatively lithe contender, had repeatedly shown signs of faltering and his one time deadly body scissors proved ineffective against the younger man's headlocks.

Lewis then resorted to his famous strangle holds, but without avail. In the end Sonnenberg dived in to butt Lewis in the stomach with a smashing impact. He lifted the champion from his feet with the flying tackle and slammed the strangler's huge bulk to the mat to make the first fall in 37 minutes and 30 seconds. The champion was out for five minutes.

The start of the second session saw Sonnenberg fresh and eager but the champion was weak. Twice Sonnenberg dived in and Lewis dodged but on the third attempt the Dartmouth boy hurtled himself through the ropes and out onto the floor.

It was the first meeting between the two and the first time the champion had ever been seen on the defensive here. Sonnenberg in a meteoric career has rejuvenated interest in the wrestling game in New England and his backers believe he will be the next world's champion.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

Two aged pitching arms—one right and the other left—are doing much to keep the St. Louis Cardinals a very long jump ahead of the National League field.

The orthodox arm belongs to Grover Cleveland Alexander. Clarence Mitchell, ancient southpaw spitballer, owns the other one.

Alex recently turned back the Cincinnati Reds three times in eight days. Yesterday Clarence pitched the Cards to an easy 9 to 4 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates at St. Louis. The Corsairs hit him often but not when hits meant runs. As a matter of fact the Pirates could not score at all until the ninth when Paul Waner hit a home run with the bases filled. The Cards touched Remy Kremer and Joe Dawson for 11 hits, six of them for extra bases.

Charley Root might as well make up his mind he can't beat the Cincinnati Reds. They walloped Charley and the Cubs yesterday, 4 to 2, and bounced back into fourth place in the standing. Luque gave the Cubs their seven hits where they did the least damage.

The Athletics retrieved some of the ground they had been losing for a week in the American League race by taking the New York Yankees into camp at Philadelphia, 6 to 4. It was the Athletics' second victory over the champions in the thirteen games the clubs have played at Shibe Park this year. Howard Ehmke was batted out of the box in the ninth inning when Combs's single, Koenig's home run and a pass to Babe Ruth made the situation slightly delicate from Connie Mack's point of view. With two runs over and only one out, the tall tactician motioned for Lefty Grove to take Ehmke's place on the mound. Lefty did so with neatness and dispatch. He fanned Gehrig and then retired the side by striking out Lazzeri after Meusel had reached first on a fumble. The Yanks' lead was cut to 11 games by their defeat.

The only other major league conflict that rain permitted saw Cleveland nose out the White Sox, 9 to 8. Three hits and a helpful wild throw by Bennett gave the tribe three runs and the game in the ninth. George Grant was knocked out of the box in the Sox half of the ninth but received credit for his seventh successive victory.

OFFICE CAT

One proposal is coming to every woman. Two are a compliment. Three are a streak of luck. Four are a lot of banana oil.

They erect monuments to people who take a chance and get away with it.

"If a man marries his first wife's step-sister's aunt, what relation is he to her?"

"First-step-aunt-sister—. Oh, I don't know. What relation would he be?"

"He'd be her husband, of course."

Nothing pleases a boy quite as well as to get his foot hurt and have to walk with crutches.

Billie: "Did you know I'm a member of a very big family?"

Marjorie: "Indeed! How many of you are there?"

Billie: "Wel, there are ten of us boys, and each of us had a sister."

"Good gracious! Then there were 20 of you?"

"No, only 11."

It's all right to be photographed holding your chin in your hand if that's the only way you can keep your chin still.

The Browns were calling on their new neighbors, the Smiths, for the first time and had brought little Alice with them. At a lull in the conversation the child turned to her mother and said:

"Mother, you were wrong. Mr. Smith has them on."

"Has what on, my dear?" asked Mrs. Smith.

"His pants," answered the child. "Mother said you wore them."

A Scotchman and a Jew were out hunting prairie chickens. They saw a bird in the air. The Scot bet the Jew a dollar that he couldn't kill the bird. The Jew accepted the bet, aimed, fired, and the prairie chicken fell. The Scotchman refused to pay the bet, claiming that the prairie chicken would have been killed in the fall, anyway.

Women always look their best to find a man.

"How did your husband come out of his gland operation?"

"Splendidly. He slid down the banister yesterday and yelled for his school books. How is your husband progressing?"

"He died this morning of infantile paralysis."

Harvard Students Favor Enlarging Big Stand

Harvard undergraduates, gathered at a mass meeting at the Harvard union, voted by a large majority for the two additions proposed by the Harvard Athletic association to increase the capacity of the present stadium on Soldiers field, Cambridge, to a seating capacity of 80,000.

Voting followed a debate in which Lothrop Withington, captain of the Harvard football team in 1911, and Adolphus Marion Cheek, Harvard captain in 1908, argued in favor of the increased stadium. Harvard, with 2,200 entrants each year and a death of 500 yearly in the graduate body, needs the proposed increase, Cheek stated.

Dr. William Conant of the class of '79, asked that a new stadium of 150,000 seats be erected instead of the planned increase to the present stadium.

New Ball Sensation

This photograph shows a batting pose of Donald Hurst, first baseman of the Philadelphia National league baseball team, whose homer in his first big league ball game won against the Cincinnati Reds. Hurst, a graduate of the Ohio Military Institute, received a great send off, as befitting the first athlete from that school to attain a berth on a big league team.

Jimmy Dykes Wants Hurling Job

JIMMY DYKES, the round veteran and Jack-of-all trades on the Athletics—the man who can't be placed "wrong" on a baseball diamond—seems quite likely to go through the season of 1929 as a pitcher! It has been the ambition of the sturdy second baseman-shortstop-third baseman-first baseman-outfielder—what is he?—to try his famed fast ball and his dinky curve against the big league sockers in games that are important in the pennant quest. He is in a fair way to have that ambition gratified. With what results no one knows, writes Bill Dolan in the Philadelphia Record.

The conversion of hard-hitting pitchers into infielders and outfielders is not an uncommon occurrence in baseball, but very few have made the transition from other positions to that of pitching. Bob Smith, a rather light-hitting infielder, with the Boston Braves, made the switch from a utility role to the pitching mound a couple of seasons ago with better than fair results, and Dykes has just as good a chance to make good on the knoll as Smith.

The all-around Mackman, like Smith, has a fine throwing arm—one a mite better than Smith's according to ball players who are familiar with both men—and though Dykes' curve ball may leave a lot to be desired, his "hook" will improve with experience and his speed should fit in nicely in a league that specializes in fast-ball pitching.

Dykes' search for a new position in which to exercise his talents of slugging and heaving baseballs comes as a result of the return of Joe Hauser to big league spangles. This is a happy anticipation for Hauser, and no one is sorry about his return, but every good break must have its victim, and the corpus delicti in this instance is Jeems Dykes, who diked the hole at first base last season after the gap had cost a number of ball games. Dykes had occupied himself in his previous years of baseball hiking from second base to short to third, according to the need of the moment, and nobody, least of all Jimmy and Connie Mack, had a suspicion that the oft-shifted infielder was a great first baseman.

Jimmy Dykes.

But good as Dykes was at a first sacker, the fans know that if Joe Hauser comes back in anything like his old-time form he will be sure to cop his job again, and the worshipers at Dykes' feet are bemoaning their visions of his return to a utility role in baildom.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, June 30.—Dr. W. B. Harris will open his new office in Western avenue July 1.

Everette Lecompte of Closter, N. J., was a guest of the Rev. M. C. Cavell last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kramer and family of Kingston visited Mr. Kramer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kramer, on Monday evening.

George McElrath is home from Washington visiting his mother Mrs. A. McElrath.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wygant's recent guests were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Housal and two children from Williamsport, Pa.

Miss Viola Scott, who is a stenographer in Long Island, spent the past week end with her parents.

The exercises for the Marlborough High School seniors were held Sunday and Monday evenings. There was no class day or senior dance this year. The baccalaureate service was at 8 o'clock Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Church. The sermon was preached by the pastor, the Rev. M. C. Cavell. There was no evening service at the Methodist Church as the congregation joined the others in the baccalaureate exercises. The principal address to the graduates at the Methodist Church was made by the pastor, the Rev. Herbert Killinder. The usual reception was held in the church parlors following the graduation program. The program was: Processional; High School Chorus, "Old Glory"; invocation, Rev. M. C. Cavell; salutatory, Helen Knight; piano selection, Dorothy Mansfield; cane oration by Helen Dowd; response to cane oration, Helen McCourt, '29; juniors' song, "To Thee We Will Be True"; class will, Clarence Feiter; girls' chorus, song, "Swing Song", by Lohr; valedictory, Florence Mackey; High School's chorus, "Nature's Anthems of Praise", Sullivan and Sheppard; address, the Rev. Herbert Killinder; High School chorus, "Alma Mater"; presentation of diplomas by Principal D. D. Taylor; eighth grade song, written by Clifton Cassales. There were also about 20 graduated from the grammar grade into high school. There was one hundred thirty dollars for rewards of excellence along different lines. The First National Bank of Marlborough gave each of the graduating seniors a check for five dollars in behalf of the Alumni Association. Miss Mabel Benjamin, president, presented the principal, D. D. Taylor with a silver memorial cup in appreciation of what he had done in the Marlborough High School for the past 14 years during which he has been principal. Next year Mr. Taylor will be supervisor of the school. The closing of the program was a senior class song, "Neath the Purple and the Gold". These are the class colors. The graduating class consisted of Miss Helen Dowd, Helen Knight, Ruth Sears, Florence Mackey, Marie Cavell, Patrick Newell, Clarence Feiter and Alvin Mahler.

Thomas Paris spent the week end with his family in New York.

Mrs. Raymond Lengig of Hopewell Junction attended the graduating exercises here for the Marlborough High School. Her sister, Florence Mackey, was a member of the class of 1928.

Dr. A. S. Ferguson is in Sacadandaga with a sister gradually improving in health. The X-rays show no surgery would be necessary. The doctor believes a period of rest is all that is needed. His many friends and patients are rejoicing in this news.

William Nicklin, who was graduated from the R. I. P. lately, and brother, Russell, who was graduated from Pratt's Institute this year also, are spending the summer here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Nicklin, Sr.

Miss Gertrude Casey of New York is spending her summer vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Casey.

Fifty-five ladies were present at the Methodist parsonage Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Herbert Killender was hostess at a tea for the Ladies' Aid Society. Guests were present from all churches. Mrs. Killender's guest, Mrs. James Edde, of Cold Spring, poured tea. Mr. Edde is a Presbyterian minister in the down river community. The silver offering was generous, $14 being received. Much merriment accompanied the exchange of "white elephant" gifts, early in the afternoon. Everything was in the collection from bill folds to embroidered table covers.

The out of town teachers of the staff of the Marlborough High School are spending their summer vacations at their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Masten of Newburgh were Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Shurter.

Thomas Newell spent Tuesday night and Wednesday morning in New York city on a business trip.

Joseph Gaffney has resigned his position with the Rosoff Sand and Gravel Bank here, where he had been employed for several years. He took charge of the farm recently purchased by his father, Daniel J. Gaffney, of New Paltz, from Mrs. F. K. Betts, formerly the J. Foster Wygant farm in Marlborough.

All the Marlborough schools are closed for the summer vacation.

Mrs. Thomas Newell called on her sister, Mrs. Owen Conner, of Highland on Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen DeWitt and family have moved from Orange street here, to Highland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Heaney of Newburgh spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coutant of Prospect avenue.

Mrs. John DuBois spent Monday in New York on a business trip.

The Hose Company's trip to Kingston to the firemen's convention was made possible by the profits from the block dance held May 26. These profits in turn were as large as they were because of cash and merchandise donations made by local residents.

Daniel J. Gaffney and son, Charles, of New Paltz called on his son, Joseph, on Wednesday evening.

DOES THE PUBLIC WISH PUBLIC FREE CONCERTS?

To the Editor of The Freeman.

Sir:—Being a resident of the city of Kingston and of Ulster county I take the liberty of placing this before the public.

Being a pioneer in the field of music settlement work and from my past experience having developed many community musical organizations, I feel that I am somewhat of an authority to give you a true side of the musical conflict in Ulster county.

For the past few weeks I have had the pleasure of reading your newspaper on the conflict with the Union Musicians and your Community Symphony Band of Ulster county.

To make it clear to this opposing body I wish to state that the Excelsior Community organization consists of musicians who are in various forms of enterprises and therefore do not wish to join any union who purely play for money and cannot donate their services to the public FREE. The community organization have therefore decided and have gotten together and are giving the public the best they have within them.

I again wish to state that it is unethical and grossly unjust for any art to be monopolized in any part of the world. I wish to publicly advise these so-called Czars of Music that there is no competition in any manner, shape or form. The Excelsior organization plays for the public amusement and not for commercial dollars.

The Excelsior Hose Symphony Band has been the organizer of this movement which is growing rapidly, with prospects of having numerous auxiliaries which will embody vocal and string instruments.

As evidence of how successful this movement will be, I wish to refer to the Goldman Symphony Band in New York. This band have donated their services to the public for many years, and consists of the greatest artists in the world. I am much gratified to state that only in recent years the public spirited citizens of New York are now donating thousands of dollars towards its upkeep.

I wish that the public would come forward with their opinion as to whether free public concerts will elevate our community or shall the paid musician be master of the situation?

JULES H. MOSS,
Director, Excelsior Hose Band.

Airplanes Cut Journey

An airplane service for gold diggers and others concerned with the newly discovered fields in New Guinea is the latest aerial development. The new fields are on a 2,000-foot high plateau, 60 miles from the coast, a cross-country journey of six days, and a fleet of airplanes has reduced the trail to one of 50 minutes. All supplies for the fields are now carried by air, the machines returning to the coast with cargoes of gold and passengers.

Waterproof Glue

Casein glues are exceedingly resistant to the action of water and retain a very high percentage of their original strength, even after long immersion under water. They are comparatively inexpensive, and the materials from which they are made are readily available in the market. They are applied cold and will set without the application of heat.

Take a Vacation From Kitchen Heat This Summer

This doesn't mean staying out of the kitchen.

It means using a modern gas range—equipped with an oven heat control, of course—and it means using a heavily insulated gas storage water heater to assure you a plentiful supply of hot water at all times.

In the use of such appliances your kitchen will not only be comparatively cool, but will afford you a greater freedom for your garden or your summer fiction.

Search for Mail Pilot.

St. Louis, June 30 (AP).—Civilian and army pilots of Missouri and Arkansas joined today in the search for Leslie H. Smith, air mail pilot of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, who has been missing since 7:10 o'clock Thursday night when he took off at Little Rock bound for St. Louis with news photographs of the Democratic national convention.

Corn—July, $1.02¾; September, $1.00⅝.

Oats—July, 54¼c; September, 55⅛c.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 30 (AP).—Curious cross currents of prices ran through today's brief session of the Stock Market. Industrials, as a rule, pointed higher, although there were numerous exceptions, and the rails were inclined to heaviness. Trading was in moderate volume, the day's sales aggregating around 650,000 shares.

Motors gave one of the most impressive demonstrations of group strength, with the demand centering in such issues as General Motors, Chrysler, Dodge Bros., preferred, and Mack Trucks. Hupp, which was strong yesterday on the increase in the cash dividend, ran into heavy profit-taking.

Radio, which shared the market leadship with General Motors yesterday, was under selling pressure. Fresh weakness also cropped out in the rubbers and in such specialties as Johns Manville, Eastman Kodak and Midland Steel Products preferred.

Coppers were mixed, Cerro De Pasco advanced 2 points to 78, a record high, and good buying developed in Howe Sound, but American Smelting sold 3 points under yesterday's final quotation. Consolidated Gas led an advance in the public utilities. The closing was irregular.

CORK PAPER SAYS IRISHMEN WILL WISH SMITH SUCCESS

Cork, Irish Free State, June 30 (AP).—The Cork Examiner today said:

"Irish folk in whatever corner of the globe they are located will be stirred by the news that Governor Smith has been nominated by the Democratic party as candidate for the White House.

"The American Declaration of Indepence began by declaring all men free and equal and entitled to equal rights before the law without regard to race or creed, yet for a century and a half Americans have upheld an unwritten law in regard to the president's faith.

"Every Irishman, no matter what his faith is, will wish him success."

Democrats On Their Way Home

With "The Old Gray Mare" and "Sidewalks of New York," Still Ringing In Their Ears—Coliseum Will Remain.

Houston, Texas, June 30 (AP).—After adding another old fashioned name to the 1928 ticket, the Democrats are on their way home, leaving the destinies of the party in the hands of "Al" Smith and "Joe" Robinson.

The convention which has just come to a close can not be charged with doing things by half measures. When these Democrats started out to nominate candidates they were nominated with a flourish. It was so when the presidential choice was made Thursday and again on the vice president yesterday afternoon.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas was off with a great lead when the vice presidential nomination came up for consideration and his friends said it with votes until he was credited with more than 900 at the close of the poll.

Senator A. W. Barkley of Kentucky and Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former Governor of Wyoming, changed the votes of their states from their own account to that of the Arkansas senator as soon as they could work their way to the platform, the enthusiastic delegates yelling for Robinson, and when the books were finally closed the Senate minority leader had more than 1,000 of the 1,189 votes.

Probably he never will know how many voted for him, for state chairmen were still shouting for recognition to give him some more when the bands drowned them out.

Followers of boxing would have said that the nomination was "in the bag" for Senator Robinson. He must have had a suggestion that he might be promoted from permanent chairman to permanent candidate, for he kept his modesty intact by remaining away from the Convention Hall.

The Old Gray Mare.

The delegates, alternates and visitors started home with the strains of "The Sidewalks of New York" and "The Old Gray Mare, She Ain't What She Used to Be," ringing in their ears. Some of them never again may hear of the decline of old gray mare, and possibly they will not be sorry. All the six bands furnishing music for the convention seemed to have a yearning for presenting in tragic notes the sad fate of the old gray mare.

"The Sidewalks of New York" was expected to carry as a campaign song for the Democrats. Just behind the two favorites was another folk song, "I've Been Working on the Railroad," and every band at the convention played "Dixie" many times every day. The visitors probably will relish some jazz pieces when they get home. Certainly the passing of the activities of the gray mare will be tuned out by those who fought the battle of Houston for Al Smith and Joe Robinson.

Smith Sends Message.

Just before the adjournment of the convention sine die, a message was read from Governor Smith, accepting the nomination and giving his views on pending questions, including prohibition. The New York governor reiterated his previously-expressed opinions on the question of national prohibition and told the men and women who nominated him for the presidency of his conviction that there should be fundamental changes in the law.

The governor's words, read in ringing tones by Senator Pat Harrison, presiding, did not provoke much comment among the delegates as they left the hall. Most of them were discussing the hour for departure of special trains. They may have thought it too hot to talk further of politics.

Many of the departing political visitors wondered what was to be the fate of the huge coliseum in which the convention sessions were held. It will remain at least for a time, however, with two records regarded as safe from attack. Not in another four consecutive days will "The Old Gray Mare" be played so many times in its picturesque interior, nor will so many speeches be made in four days—or four weeks—from its platform.

As the delegates hurried away, they left behind them gayly-decorated streets with banners and pictures of candidates to remind Houston for a day or two that a political convention had been to town, done its work in a jiffy and hurried away.

The work of the conventoin is not yet all done. The winning candidates must be notified of their success. Claude G. Bowers, New York, temporary chairman of the convention, will advise Senator Robinson. Governor Smith will hear the good news from Senator Key Pittman of Nevada. Senator Pittman as chairman of the resolutions committee fell heir to the job that would have been assigned to Senator Robinson as permanent chairman, had not the senator been designated to receive rather than deliver nomination tidings.

COOLIDGE OPTIMISTIC OVER ANTI-WAR NEGOTIATIONS

Superior, Wis., June 30 (AP).—President Coolidge feels optimistic enough about the anti-war negotiations now pending between the United States and 14 foreign powers to believe that a draft treaty to this effect will be ready for senate ratification next December.

Mr. Coolidge has not had opportunity for detailed consultation with Secretary of State Kellogg as to the reception afforded to the latter's last note on this question by the other powers. Nevertheless, he believes that progress so far has been sufficiently promising to assure conclusion of a pact this summer.

"Dry" Convention In Chicago July 10

Des Moines, June 30 (AP).—A call for the national convention of the Prohibition party to meet in Chicago July 10-11, at which drys, farmers and laborers are expected to join in making a common national ticket for the November election, has been issued, John B. Hammond of Des Moines, prominent dry worker, announced today.

The meeting constitutes the regular national of the Prohibition party, but according to Hammond, a move has taken form to change the name of the party and formulate a Farmer-Labor plank in its platform.

In a telegram summoning Hammond as one of Iowa's 30 delegates, Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, national chairman of the Prohibition party, declared the Democratic plank on the liquor question was not satisfactory. Previously Colvin has expressed dissatisfaction with the Republican liquor declaration and also with Secretary Hoover's presidential candidacy.

Prominent among those considered as likely presidential candidates by the Prohibition party leaders is Gifford Pinchot, former Governor of Pennsylvania, Hammond said.

Hold Two as Short Change Artists

Michael Purcell and Thomas Marsh Arrested Charged With Working $20 Short Change Game in Kingston—Hearing Adjourned to Monday.

Michael Percell, 21, of Newark, N. J., and Thomas March, 29, of Paterson, N. J., were arrested by the police this morning on a charge of petit larceny following complaints by local merchants that short change artists were working in the city, traveling in an automobile carrying a New Jersey license.

The specific complaint on which both men were arraigned was that of short changing George Raichle, who has a grocery store on Ravine street. Bail was fixed at $200 each. Percell furnished bail, and it was expected that Marsh would also furnish it, for their appearance in court Monday.

There were several other merchants in court this morning ready to press the charge against the two young men.

As told elsewhere in The Freeman, the two men are accused of working the old, familiar $20 gag.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press)

New York—Peggy Joyce, $300,000, diamond and all, is bound for Europe. For pleasure? Not wholly, she insists. She is to do some handwork as an author—write her memoirs.

Plainfield, N. J.—Alice May Sisty, 21, has come all the way home from Reno by bronco. She used three of them.

Buffalo, N. Y.—John L. Porter of Pittsburgh, chairman of the trustees of Carnegie Institute of Technology, thinks jazz and girls are to blame for low scholastic standing in colleges and for decreased interest in fraternities. He so told the Phi Kappa Psi.

New York—An excellent way to pass the time while flying is to knit. Mrs. J. Livingston Taylor, 67, of Cleveland, is back from a visit to Presbyterian missions in Persia. The auto was too tiring in the desert dust, so she and others chartered a plane. In all they flew 9,000 miles. "I had plenty of knitting to do," she said.

Northaby, Ont.—The will of F. W. Brownell, wealthy recluse, has been broken. It stipulated that his faithful dog be shot and buried with him. On his deathbed he asked that this provision be disregarded.

New York—Who was Steve Brodie? Such a question might justly be asked by Ray Woode, 22, swimming star of St. Louis. Ray did not jump from Brooklyn bridge. He took a back jack-knife dive from it, 132 feet to the East river, and swam ashore.

Princeton, N. J.—Oh for the age of no airpalnes or trains. Some prominent folks of this town got hold of an old canalboat and gave a dance aboard while two mules were towing the craft in the Raritan Canal. Music was by an accordion.

Thompsonville, Conn. — Nathan, who is more than 113 years old, is summering here after convalescence. A horse had stepped on him. Nathan bears on his back the initials placed there the year he was found in Enfield, Conn. He was apparently full grown then. Nathan is a box turtle.

Orono, Me.—Let's hope there is fine weather during the Olympic games. Just imagine what "Rip" Black of the University of Maine could do with a hammer under such conditions! It was raining so hard that out of a bunch of candidates for the team only Rip went to the field. He threw the hammer so far that twice it ripped through a fence.

EXCELSIOR HOSE BAND HAS MANY ENGAGEMENTS

Members of Excelsior Hose Company Band played a concert at the engine house in Port Ewen Friday evening for the benefit of the Port Ewen firemen who are endeavoring to renew interest in the company and to increase its membership. The concert was a big success in spite of the bad weather which prevailed and there was a large attendance to hear the local firemen play.

Sunday afternoon the band will play at the picnic of the Rondout Social Mannerchor which will be held at Dunneman's grove on Lucas avenue. Members of the band will meet at the engine house on Hurley avenue at 12:30 o'clock.

The regular free concert will be given Tuesday evening from the balcony of the Elks' Club on Fair street. This concert will commence at 8 o'clock.

On July Fourth the members of the band will take part in the celebration at New Paltz. Members of the band and also all members of Excelsior Hose Company have been invited to participate in the parade. The band and members of the company will meet at the engine rooms at 12:30 o'clock that day and proceed to New Paltz in busses. The bus will leave at 1 o'clock. A meeting will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at which time arrangements will be made for the trip on July Fourth.

Model Home Open on Sunday

New Model Home to Remain Open Another Day for Benefit of Those Who Have Been Unable to Inspect It—Home Praised by Visitors.

The model home of Fred J. Roosa at 395 Albany avenue which has been visited by thousands of people since its opening a week ago, will remain open Sunday in order to give those a chance who have not yet had an opportunity to visit it. The Sunday hours will be the same as heretofore. Although the majority of people who have visited this model home have been from Kingston and Ulster county, there have been many visitors from distant points including many from outside the state and as far west as Minneapolis. Those who visit the model home are more than delighted with the place and many have expressed their opinion that it is one of the finest model homes ever erected. This opinion has come from those who have visited model homes in New York city and suburban New York and in other towns.

Those who visit the Roosa model home will find a real surprise in store for them. The home is so modernly equipped and the furnishings put in by Stock & Cordts are of such a tasty style that every visitor is thrilled with an inspection. Having had an opportunity to visit many model homes about New York, the man who hung the draperies for Stock & Cordts might be called an expert in homes and he has expressed his opinion that the Roosa model home is the most complete which he has ever seen.

In addition to the draperies and furnishings which were installed by Stock & Cordts, they have also installed an electric ironer and an electric refrigerator. The Kingston Gas & Electric Company which furnished the electrical appliances also has an electric refrigerator, electric washer and ironer in the house.

Naturally the kitchen is the place which attracts the attention of the housewife. Not only the furnishings in the kitchen but the room itself appeals to the women. The kitchen, which is finished in blue and white enamel, is the pride of Mr. Roosa also. In order to bring out the desirable effects the kitchen was done in three coats of paint and followed up with two coats of white enamel.

Much comment is also made on the walls in the lower floor rooms. This wall is of Tx-Crete furnished by the Kingston Lumber Corporation which has the local distribution for the product of the A. C. Horn Company. This finish is an oil base compound which may be blended in any color to produce the desired effect and when hardened may be washed with soap and water. Any number of effects are available, including a brush swirl, dragpoint stipple, basket weave stucco, stone effects, spatter dash, travertine, etc. It may also be applied with a gloss. The delightful effect in the Roosa model home was made by applying the texturing with a sponge, giving the many colored mottled effect.

An invitation is extended by Mr. Roosa to the public to visit the place this evening or Sunday afternoon or evening.

Joy's Car Afire.

Early Friday evening a short circuit set fire to the Chevrolet car of William Joy of Abeel street, causing a still alarm to be sent in to the fire department. The fire was soon under control and the damage to the car was slight.

Six Killed as Result of Rains

Nashville, Tenn., June 30 (AP).—Scattered reports from middle Tennessee and Kentucky today showed that at least six persons had been killed and millions of dollars damage caused by torrential rains and windstorms that swept the two states yesterday.

The breaking of Cookeville's municipal power dam on the Falling Water river sent a huge wall of water down the narrow valley toward the Caney Fork river, already above flood stage, but did not cause any deaths as far as could be determined.

In the same general area, the small daughter and wife of a farmer were drowned when Martin's creek washed away their home as they slept. In Buffalo valley the two young daughters of another farmer also were drowned while John S. Lewis, Nashville deputy sheriff, was electrocuted when he stepped on a power wire that had fallen in a puddle. Three women in scattered sections were reported seriously injured with a score or more slightly hurt.

At Alexandria, Tenn., 23 residences were destroyed and many other buildings damaged.

In both Kentucky and Tennessee roads were practically impassable with telegraph and telephone lines badly crippled. Crops were washed out, bridges carried away, trees uprooted, and in many places, railroad tracks undermined. Because of the difficulty of communication, it was impossible to obtain an accurate estimate of damage.

NORTH DAKOTA RETAINS PROHIBITION LAW

Fargo, N. D., June 30 (AP).—North Dakota voters have repudiated an attempt to repeal the state's prohibition law.

Returns today from Wednesday's primary election showed that they turned down a proposal to wipe out the dry clause of the state constitution. The margin was comparatively small—around 5,000 votes—but it was big enough to insure no change in the statute which has been on the books since 1889.

The prohibition clause forbids the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within the borders of North Dakota. Attempts had been made to modify it, but without success, even in the days when most of the rest of the country was legally "wet."

Last spring a petition was filed with the secretary of state by a group of anti-prohibitionists, calling for a referendum on the question of repealing the law. A spirited campaign was made in its behalf.

Less than 400 of the state's 2,892 precincts remained unreported early today. And even the leaders in the repeal movement saw no chance to upset the dry margin.

Negro Kills Boy, Wounds Mother.

Richmond, Va., June 30 (AP).—Samuel E. Haskins, 16 year old Richmond youth, is dead, his mother, Mrs. Nellie L. Haskins, probably fatally wounded, and Henry G. Grimmell seriously wounded as the result of an attack today by a negro with a shotgun, who opened fire upon the mother when she responded to a knock at the front door of her home. The assailant escaped.

New Nash Model On Exhibition

The new Nash "400" is on exhibit at the VanKleeck show rooms on North Front street between Fair street and Clinton avenue. The new Nash is attracting a great deal of attention through the revolutionary engineering principles. On the show room floor here are being shown a five passenger Advance sedan, a five passenger special sedan, a standard coupe, a five passenger standard sedan and a five passenger landeau. A large number of motorists have visited the show rooms to view this new line of motor cars which were shown to the public on June 21.

Since the car was announced thousands of people have viewed it. More than 200,000 people in larger cities visited Nash show rooms during the first ten hours of the public display according to figures kept by the dealers. In fifty cities, including several smaller cities, 205,530 people by count passed through the show room door to examine the sixteen brand new models offered by Nash. Interest in the first showing of the Nash indicates a big summer and fall business for Nash dealers. C. W. Nash with thirty-five years of successful manufacturing in the vehicle field predicts the present season will exceed by a large margain any sales year in Nash history.

As a result of the mass of orders booked on the first showing of the new Nash cars the factory program for three months calls for an output of 60,000 units, or one third more than the number ever produced in a similar period.

NEW PALTZ POPPY SALE A SUCCESSFUL ONE

The poppy sale conducted by the American Legion Post of New Paltz was a most successful one. From the sale of 812 poppies the auxiliary members realized the sum of $112.56. Of this amount 30 per cent was sent to the state headquarters in New York city to be used for welfare work. The Legion of New Paltz greatly appreciated the action of the public in purchasing the poppies and the part the business men took in furthering the good cause.
